matrix is a faithful representation of the projection of a vector I have a set of vectors and I want to test if they are faithful representations of the projections of these vectors. I was thinking of using a Hamming distance function as a metric, but I was wondering if there is a faster and more comprehensive way to do that. To clarify, here is what I want to calculate.

Let's say I have a vector "v" and a set of vectors  $\{v_i\}$  (with  $i = 1, \dots, n$ ). I want to check if all these vectors have a projection that is consistent. In other words, if I have:
$$\text{v} = \lambda_1 \text{v}_1 + \lambda_2 \text{v}_2 + \dots +$$
